Imagine...Cancer Treatment Without Side Effects

John Kanzius not only imagined such a treatment, his invention is making that dream a reality.

The Kanzius Non-Invasive RadioWave Cancer Treatment, in its simplest form, involves destroying cancer cells with radio waves. Once the unique physical characteristics of a specific cancer cell are identified, microscopically small metals, known as nanoparticles, are introduced to a cancer patient's blood stream. These particles target and attach themselves to the cancer cells.

The radio waves then generate enough heat to destroy the cancer cells. There is no damage to the surrounding tissue or the patient's healthy cells. The treatment is completely non-invasive and requires no surgery. The only side effect is a cure.

The Kanzius Cancer Research Foundation is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization based in Erie, Pennsylvania. It is made up of a group of dedicated individuals whose mission is to create and promote regional, national and international awareness of the Kanzius Non-Invasive RadioWave Cancer Treatment. The goal of the organization is to raise money to provide a steady funding stream which will speed the progress of the research being done by lead researcher, Dr. Steven Curley at the University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center in Houston. Tests there have shown that the Kanzius treatment is 100% effective in killing cancer cells.

You can help us reach our goals by donating to the research through the Foundation. Please consider a gift today that will change the world tomorrow.
